1. Judgment is Hard

Judgment is the act of picking which of a set of objects or persons is good or the best.

First Proof

Supposing there are three laptops in the market from Factory A, Factory B and Factory C. Intel (a computer company) must have done a good job in teaching the three factories and the laptops are all good (last five years, all come with Windows).

One might indeed be better than the other: Factory B might not have paid their staff wages properly and in fact Factory C might have suggested some things to Intel, the source of computers on earth.

This information about the three factories would most likely not be known by the buyers.

Second Proof

You might have seen a young person pick another young person for marriage. Then after some years in marriage, they decide to get a divorce.

Third Proof

Note: Two proofs is usually enough.

Electricity shocks a person if touched. And if there is too much exposure to electricity, there could be death.

Electricity is much needed on Earth to run machines.

So therefore, something that is good could also have bad properties.

Fourth Proof

This earth was created to test people, objects and ideas before taking them to heaven.

None of us can build an earth.

2. There are more Males than Females

First Proof

Humans on earth are workers. So there are more male jobs than female jobs.

Male jobs include: Factory, Buildings, Agriculture, Transportation, Security etc.

Female jobs include: Teaching, Sales, Computer Related Jobs.

Factories and buildings employ more people than any female jobs.

3. Some Women are greater than some Men

First Proof

We all know that men are stronger than women and can beat any woman. That is the major reason some say men are always greater than women.

But if that is true that means that if a dog chases a man from his friends house the dog is greater than the man. Wrong.

Second Proof

Going through the streets of my area you would see some women in vehicles (even high class vehicles) and some men trekking.

4. People with a lot of servants can't go to Heaven

First Proof

The earth was created to test people before taking them to Heaven. And that is why we don't live forever on earth.

And thus, there is a need for workers in Heaven since the earth has not been shut down.

And so people who need a lot of servants will not be able to get them in heaven.

5. The Idea is harder to get than the Resource

That is to say, the resources needed to bring an idea to life are not as hard to get as the idea.

First Proof

Most children of wealthy parents have no company like their parents.

I didn't mean to insult anyone. Please forgive me.

Second Proof

When there were only button phones I was satisfied. And when touch-screen phones were released I was shocked.

I never thought of that.

6. Money is a Weakling

First Proof

Money cannot change the laws of the Government directly.

Second Proof

Money cannot buy a good friend. There is no market for that.

Third Proof

Money cannot buy a new idea. There is no market for that.

7. Not all Theories on Earth are True

First Proof

A quick search on Google tells you that factories employ a lot of workers.

Since man must eat, a factory boss might not have enough resources for his research and thus publishes half true results.

Second Proof

This occurs in mathematics exams: a student solved a mathematical problem and was sure of his answer. But when the teacher marks the student's answer, he finds something wrong from the reference books the teacher used.

Furthermore, it is usually common for a student to have gotten three steps right while missing a single step. And this single step would make his final result wrong.

Third Proof

When I was younger I thought bread or rice was the best food in the world. But after a little while, I met Indomie (noodles).

8. God is at times not a Man

First Proof

If you've been to a farm and make heaps for yam, you would notice that a man cannot make more than 3 - 8 heaps at a go.

If God then was always a man, how did he make the mountains?

And the Bible says (in Genesis) that it was a short time.

Second Proof

How will God being a man check all the parts of the earth to see that it is good in a short time after creation.

9. God is at times Female

First Proof

Every boss has workers. And these workers need to be trained.

In Statement 8 above we know that God is at times very strong. We could call such strong beings Sauron (or Superman).

Computers are needed to write books. And a Liberian is needed to manage such books.

Now the hands of a Sauron are too strong and such a computer would be broken. And thus God the Liberian is not a Sauron.

We know that females are cheaper than males because of their lack of strengths.

And that females eat less food than males of the same age.

Since there are many people (billions on earth) and God would like to reduce costs, God the Liberian is female.

If the God the Liberian is different from God, she would not be able to answer tough questions that his workers would ask.

10. God doesn't live on Earth

First Proof

Common knowledge defines God as the one or among the ones who made this earth and the people in it.

Checking the jobs we practice on earth, Earth research and People research (that is making of people) doesn't happen on earth.

And thus God would be wasting his time if he lives on earth.

So therefore, God doesn't live on earth.

11. The Root Teachers always live on Earth

Examples of Root Teachers are the ones who made computers or vehicles.

First Proof

There are many books (especially factory books) and it could take a long while to master.

It is not everything written in a book that is clear. Students even after reading would always ask questions.

Since there is a heaven, and people die. Knowledge would soon be forgotten.

And so the Root Teachers are always around to answer such questions.
